

PROJECT KIKS DONATES TO LIBERIAN NATIONAL MUSEUM, MONROVIA

Paul Cheatham II, aka, Chief Nana Zawanah, a Kruman, and his family members have been avid supporters of the museum since 2016. The first eclectic donation consist of 39 pieces of art work by African Americans, oil and water color paintings. Porcelain figurines from the USA, Holland, Italy, artifacts, collectables, rare books, including Michelle Obama's and a photo of President Obama. Chief Nana Zawanah is a highly decorated US

Army Officer NATO Officer retired. He also donated his military awards, medals and photographs. The most recent donations were hand carried into the museum in 2021 and 2022. Donated items may be viewed in several hand made showcases built by local artisans in Monrovia. The goal of the Cheatham Family, is to contribute to the restoration of our museum. A time for celebration, visit the National Museum.
